Queen Mary's Dolls' House

Queen Mary's Dolls' House has been re-presented to mark the anniversary, including updated lighting and the conservation of the wall murals and niches in the room that was created to display the Dolls' House almost 100 years ago.

The re-presentation of the Dolls' House, as well as new dolls'-eye view films on the Royal Collection Trust website, are allowing as many people as possible to appreciate the Dolls' House's tiny rooms, including (clockwise from top-left): the Library; the Kitchen; the Garage; and the Saloon.

Waterloo Chamber special display
